Returns and Cancellations

Due to the perishable nature of tree seedlings, payment is required prior to shipment. Once shipped, seedlings cannot be returned.

Amendments or cancellations of orders must be completed within 48 hours of the order being secured. Cancellations made within 48 hours will be credited in full. Cancellations made after 48 hours will be charged a 30% restocking fee.

Guarantee

TreeTime.ca stands behind our products and is proud to guarantee our seedlings are in good health upon arrival and will put on new growth after being planted. If you receive any seedlings you believe are not healthy upon arrival please contact us within 7 days. Seedlings must be planted within 7 days of arrival to be eligible for guarantee. If for some reason your seedling does not put on growth within 30 days of being planted please contact us. Seedlings that do not perform as guaranteed will be replaced or store credit issued at the discretion of the seller.

Free Shipping

TreeTime.ca offers free shipping on all orders of container and bareroot seedlings over $100 to the western Canadian provinces (British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba). Orders under $100 are subject to a $12.00 shipping fee.

TreeTime.ca ships out of Edmonton, Alberta. Shipping begins Monday April 16th, 2012 and continues each Monday through June 18th.

Unless specified otherwise, orders are shipped out through Canada Post as Expedited Parcels and should be received in 1-3 days. You will receive notification that your parcel has arrived in your normal mail but you will need to pick the package up at your local post office.

If you have not received your seedlings by Noon on the Thursday after your shipping date please call 1-866-873-3846 and inform us of the problem.

Shipping Options

For large or special orders, or at the customer's request, other shipping arrangements may be made. Shipping options include:

- UPS
- DHL
- Greyhound
- Regional freight carriers

Please note that additional charges may apply to special shipping arrangements.

Elsewhere in Canada

TreeTime.ca can ship seedlings throughout Canada. In order to guarantee the health of seedlings shipped elsewhere in Canada, special shipping arrangements must be made, at additional cost.

In the past, TreeTime.ca has successfully shipped trees to Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, and Yellowknife N.W.T.

Note

Seedlings leave our warehouse frozen. Please ensure that the roots have thawed completely prior to planting. Once thawed, seedlings should be planted within 7 to 10 days.

We ship on Mondays so that you can plant on the weekend. For further information see our Planting Tips on our website, www.TreeTime.ca.

Cherries

University of Saskatchewan Hybrid Cherries

The University of Saskatchewan Fruit Program has been breeding cherries suitable for prairie environments since the 1940's. With a focus on cold hardiness, dwarf habit and good quality fruit, the U of S has released hybrid varieties that are suitable for both the home grower and commercial production.

Carmine Jewel Cherry

The most common cherry in commercial production on the prairies. By its fifth year an average bush yields 20-30 pounds of dark red, medium sized (3.5g) fruit.

2 Year Old (P+1)	Average 40 cm (16") *Limited stock	1 Seedling: $18.99/tree	Part Box of 5: $14.49/tree	Full Box of 20: $9.29/tree

Berries & Fruit Trees

Haskap

Haskap is an excellent choice for the northern prairies due to its extreme cold hardiness and very early fruit development. The fruit is blue in color and elongate in shape. The flavor is described as a cross between blueberry and raspberry.

Haskap bushes mature quickly and may produce fruit in the first year after planting. They will generally reach full production (5-10 kg of fruit) in the 3rd to 5th year. Haskap varieties self-pollinate poorly, and it is therefore recommended that multiple varieties be planted. "Berry Blue" is the most commonly used pollinator variety, and is usually planted at a ratio of 1:8 to 1:10.

Borealis Haskap Lonicera caerulea ‘Borealis’

The largest and best-tasting of the Haskap cultivars released by the UofS Fruit Program. Its tender fruit is great for fresh eating, but not well-suited to mechanical harvesting.

Borealis does not self-pollinate well. It is recommended that another variety, such as Berry Blue Honeyberry or UofS 9-92 be planted at a minimum 1:10 ratio.

2 Year Old (P+1)	Average 35 cm (14") SOLD OUT	1 Seedling: 18.99/tree	Part Box of 5: $14.99/tree	Full Box of 20: $9.99/tree
------------------	---	---------------------------	--------------------------------	--------------------------------

Prices include University of Saskatchewan Royalty*

Tundra Haskap Lonicera caerulea ‘Tundra’

Tundra is the best Haskap for commercial production. It’s flesh is firm, and does not bleed from the stem when picked, while still retaining a flavor nearly as good as Borealis.

Tundra does not self-pollinate well. It is recommended that another variety, such as Berry Blue Honeyberry or UofS 9-92 be planted at a minimum 1:10 ratio.

2 Year Old (P+1)	Average 25 cm (10") *Limited stock	1 Seedling: 18.99/tree	Part Box of 5: $13.99/tree	Full Box of 20: $8.99/tree
------------------	--	---------------------------	--------------------------------	--------------------------------

Prices include University of Saskatchewan Royalty*

Berry Blue™ Honeyberry Lonicera caerulea var. edulis ‘Berry Blue’

Vigorous and produces many flowers, making it the preferred pollinator variety for the University of Saskatchewan ‘Borealis’ and ‘Tundra’ varieties. However, it’s fruit is generally smaller than more recent cultivars, better suited to jams than fresh eating.

Blackcurrant

Blackcurrants are a berry native to Europe and the British Isles. It is a small shrub with serrated maple-like leaves and round deep purple to black berries. Large scale cultivation began during World War II as a source of vitamin C, and Blackcurrant remains an important commercial crop. It's fruit is sweet and astringent and rich in vitamin C and E. It is suitable for jams, jellies, syrups and cordial, and as a flavouring for ice cream and liqueurs such as Creme de cassis.

Ben Hope Blackcurrant Ribes nigrum 'Ben Hope'

Selected by the Mylnefield Research Station in Scotland. It is a relatively upright and vigorous variety, producing medium sized berries. Its size and fruit are suitable for mechanical harvesting, and it is widely planted in Britain for commercial production. It's fruit is suitable for fresh eating and juicing.
